Yamaha UC (formerly Revolabs) starts shipping the YVC-1000MS-- a USB speakerphone and the first Yamaha product certified for Skype for Business.

Engineered with Yamaha audio technology, it works with both small and large meeting rooms. The microphone and speaker system passed the highest Microsoft standards, specifically the Skype for Business Certification Version 3 tests.

The speakerphone provides a scalable solution able to support the audio requirements of large meeting rooms, rooms with special table configurations and even remote education classes or seminars within Skype for Business. The design provides simple connection to PC via USB or smartphones using Bluetooth.

Hardware features include adaptive echo cancellation and other unique Yamaha sound processing technologies, all promising stress-free conversation.
